Horse show behavior:
We arrive as a team, we leave as a team (with the exception Cory mentioned-your parents come to Cory and tell her you will be leaving with them). Proper attire is a must. Only positive talk about riders and horses. These horses are being provided by the host school/ community, be nice to them J Lots of Cheering!! No sleeping, we'll wake you up!

The September 29th hunt seat show is coming up! If you signed up to show you need to pay for your class, entries were sent in last Thursday. You must register online if you have not done so already.

Lesson sign ups were also sent around. Please note, if you have not had barn orientation (those new members had this Monday at the meeting) or you are not an Equine Studies student, you will not receive a lesson (hunt seat riders only).
If you are getting a lesson on Saturday, please show up at least ½ hour early with the following:

- Black or white polo wraps
- A hairnet
- Riding crop
- Appropriate lesson attire. (If you are unsure of appropriate lesson attire, email me.)

The lesson schedule will be sent out, please check your email. Occasionally they do get sent out last minute.

We went over acceptable fashion for English horse shows. We will be working on a trip to Bucks County Saddlery for those who don't have transportation. If you have a question about show attire, please bring whatever it is to your lesson. Cory will tell you if it's acceptable or not at that time. If you want to sell something (boots, jacket, etc) please bring it to the meeting.

Kaitlyn addressed Halloween Haunting. It is very fun, but it requires participation from the entire team. It is a good fundraiser if we do well, but again, we need everybody's help. The English team will have a show that day, please keep this in mind. We will be doing a vote on whether or not to participate soon.

Team clothes! We’re thinking of ordering 3 in 1 winter coats for those cold days at horse shows, ¾ length polos, a shell type coat (waterproof), the duffel bag-just as an idea. We're not sure on everything, it will depend on team input.
The website to check this stuff out at is: http://www.hoofandwoof.com/riding-apparel.html
Everything will be in DVC colors, with our team name/logo on it.
The more that sign up, the cheaper these items will be!!

The next meeting is Monday, September 24th at 4:30 pm in Feldman 114.

Register and pay your dues if you have not!!!!
